

Equipment Operator & Warehouse Assistant

Are you a high-school graduate that is looking for work?

Do you have some technical ability?

Would you be interested in joining an amazing company?

Our client, one of Canada's largest distributors of industrial products to a diverse market across the country, requires someone smart and ambitious that has some technical ability to join their branch in Winnipeg, Manitoba.

In this role you will have the chance to operate some very specialized equipment (Don't worry, you will receive all the necessary training) to perform work in our client's facility and on customer job sites. No need to worry about not being busy, because when there isn't work to do for customers you will be kept busy in the branch helping out in the Warehouse. So you will definitely get all the hours your looking for!

Qualifications:

- Ability to work well in a team-based environment
- Ability to work well with minimum supervision
- Possess strong communication, customer service and organizational skills
- Experience using tools, solving problems and basic mechanical ability
- Interest in personal growth within a dynamic environment or ownership
- Good computer skills and the ability to learn new systems
- Minimum High-School education or even post-secondary.
